PLEADS GUILTY TO THE ILLEGAL SALE OF WHISKEY STOCK

Joseph Livingston Sentenced To $1,000 Fine; 2½ to 5 Years' Prison Term

FLEECED AGED WOMAN

Judge Boyer Compares Defendant to Judas; Gained Woman's Affection

DOYLESTOWN, May 29—Joseph Livingston, 51, of Reading, pleaded guilty before Judge Calvin S. Boyer, in Bucks County court, yesterday, to three charges of undertaking to dispose of whiskey warehouse receipts without a license, and dealing in whiskey warehouse receipts without a license.

This is the first case of its kind ever heard in the Bucks County courts.

Livingson was sentenced to pay a fine of $1,000 and costs of prosecution, and to serve from 2½ to five years in the county prison.

He was arrested March 28th in the Berkshire Hotel, Reading, by John Kelly, an investigator for the State Liquor Control Board, who was the principal witness for the prosecution.

Livingson was charged with fleecing Mrs. Anna C. Smith, 72, well-known Quakertown club woman out of nearly $10,000, he having sold her whiskey stock.

In pronouncing sentence Judge Boyer remarked to Livingson: "This is one of the most contemptible cases I've ever heard. You took advantage of a woman inexperienced in business matters, who had a natural desire to increase her income, by winning her confidence. I have no doubt you 'wormed' your way into the affections of this woman purposely, so you could sell her out, and ruin her financially. I can compare you with only one man, who lived nearly 2000 years ago. You have no doubt heard of Judas Iscariot."

On the stand, Mrs. Smith admitted that Livingson wanted to marry her, and on occasion took advantage of her, stating that at one time he bought $500 worth of goods at a Philadelphia department store, and had it charged to her account.

John Kelly, who made the arrest, testified that the first purchase Mrs. Smith made was 100 barrels of whiskey, which were later increased to 150 barrels, as an investment. At one time, it was stated, that the woman gave $10,000 worth of securities to pay for it.

When Livingson was arrested in a Reading Hotel, there were found in his room, Kelly testified, 100 letters written him by Mrs. Smith. On the witness stand, Mrs. Smith admitted that Livingson took her out to dinner, but that she never went "night-clubbing" with him.

Criminal records read in the case of Livingson by district attorney Edward Biester, showed that the defendant's career of crime started in 1915, and that he had continued in trouble since in many cities in the United States.

Italians Aid in "Squeeze" Movement

Rome, May 29—Forming the eastern end of a gigantic squeeze movement in Crete, a strong force of Italian soldiers and marines has landed on the island and today was moving through the Cretan mountains toward the German front on the west.

Between the jaws of the pincers, the Axis expected to crush the remainder of the British Imperial and Greek armies on Crete and prevent their escape.

Berlin indicated that little remains except mopping up to be accomplished on the island.

Claim U. S. Now Virtually At War

Washington, May 29—A majority of the officials who carry out American foreign policy at the State Department today privately believe the United States, to all intents and purposes, is now virtually in the war.

These officials believe the country at present is in a "non-shooting" war with Germany and that the question of whether and when it develops into a shooting war is up to the Axis powers.

The officials further believe this country is definitely committed to bringing about the defeat of Nazism and that no satisfactory compromise peace can be made with Adolf Hitler. America's foreign affairs are being handled in the light of this view. Diplomatic efforts are being made to hamper Nazi Germany wherever possible and to strengthen this nation's position in world affairs in preparation for the possibility of hostilities between the two countries.

Some officials still hope it will be possible for Great Britain, with the active assistance of the American Navy, to bring about the downfall of the Nazis by 1943 or 1944. Many of the officials, however, doubt that it will be possible for Britain to achieve a decisive military victory over Germany without the help not only of the United States navy, but the air force and army as well.

If Great Britain is able to hold out this year, the second school of thought believes that an American air force will be sent across the Atlantic, probably next year.

WATERHOUSE CONVICTED OF DRUNKEN DRIVING

Sealed Verdict Given in Case of Newportville Man; Move For New Trial

MANY COURT CASES

DOYLESTOWN, May 29—Following a hard fought trial, on the part of the Assistant District Attorney Willard S. Curtin and Private John P. Mitchell, a Ponna Motor Policeman, during which several witnesses for the Commonwealth changed their testimony, weakening the case considerably, a jury on Tuesday convicted a Newportville truck driver, Richard Waterhouse, alleged drunken driver, returning a sealed verdict.

Counsel for the defendant, J. Leslie Kilcoyne, made a motion for a new trial and Judge Calvin S. Boyer fixed the bail at $1,000.

The trial, which began on Tuesday, took on color because two outstanding Bristol physicians testified Waterhouse was unfit to operate his truck following a collision March 8 in Andalusia, and several witnesses for the defendant, including the organizer of the Bucks County Rescue Squad, Robert A. Porter, of Croydon, testified that Waterhouse was in a dazed condition due to minor injuries received when he was thrown out of his truck and not because he had been drinking.

Waterhouse, who has been driving a truck for a Philadelphia concern, further added to the confusion in the conflicting testimony in court on Tuesday when he admitted that at a hearing before a Justice of the Peace he pleaded guilty.

Waterhouse, it was brought out in the trial which started on Monday, was operating his truck at Andalusia, on March 8th, when he struck a car said to be parked off the highway, it being owned by Harry Hibbs, Andalusia. Among the early witnesses in the case was Elva Hibbs, 15-year-old daughter of Hibbs, who told that she saw the defendant's truck swerve and hit her father's machine. Dr. George T. Fox and Dr. J. Fred Wagner, Bristol physicians, both testified that Waterhouse was intoxicated when they examined him following the accident.

Frederick deM. Bertram, 43, Brant Beach, N. J., who pleaded guilty to non-support of illegitimate children, was directed by Judge Boyer to pay the costs of prosecution and $7 a week for the support of two daughters until February 9, 1945, when they will be six years old; $9 a week until February 6, 1949, when they are ten years old; $11 a week until February 9, 1953, when they are 14 years old, and $13 a week until February 9, 1957, until they are 18 years old. He was permitted by the Court to enter into his own recognizance.

Bertram testified that he is now

CLASS NIGHT PROGRAM FEATURES A PLAYLET

"Senior Life" Presented in 3 Acts at Bristol High School

NAME ESSAY WINNER

Taking the form of a three-act play, "Senior Life," in which high school life was "caricatured," the class of 1941, Bristol high school, presented its class night exercises in the high school, last evening, before an audience that filled the auditorium.

The three acts, in which many of the 74 seniors participated, presented an English class on a Monday morning; an assembly period; and a music class in action, the play following the address of welcome by Benjamin Lupkin, class president; and class history by Emma Spezzano.

When the "English class" was presented, Albert Tomlinson appeared as "Professor Flatbush," with this episode including a monologue by Grace Downing; last will and testament, Margaret Rathke and Sylvia Singer; and class poem, Mary Brown. The class room scene was complete with a dance, and student pranks.

In the "assembly period," a "Truth or Consequence Quiz" was conducted by Dr. NoWitte, impersonated by John Randall. Red Cross Workers Hear Mrs. Dwight Davis Speak

A meeting of Red Cross workers was held yesterday at Red Cross Headquarters, Philadelphia, to meet Mrs. Dwight F. Davis, national chairman, Volunteer Special Services.

Mrs. Davis described the Red Cross as "the great white light on a very dark road—and a light that never fails in its responsibility." She said: "A request has never been refused that will bring health and better living. The Red Cross is an arm of the Government—a support to the Army and Navy. We must be prepared for any emergency which may befall the American Nation. There is a price if we are compelled to fight, there is a price if we are not compelled to fight. We can not escape the aftermath. When 'The Wave of the Future' breaks on our shores will it be one of Liberty? Civic responsibility must answer the question. We must be prepared to make real sacrifice for the Christian way of life. We must translate into organized effort our latent powers and work without tiring, without ceasing for our 'Way of Life'."

"Sixteen million young men of our country are now in camps—a sacrifice for a principle. Let us who stay at home prove, that no task is too small for a Red Cross worker; and let us make a solemn pledge to the president that we shall not fail him in his expectations for this nation. Let us, ourselves, show by what we do for our nation that we are an unconquerable people. Let us build upon yesterday, but always lifting our eyes to greater tomorrows!"

Reports were given by various chairmen of the many departments of Red Cross. It was shown that from May 1, 1940, to April 30, 1941, 2,271,610 hours had been given by the volunteers of American Red Cross in the various branches in S. E. Chapter.

Several members of Bristol branches were among the women who attended this meeting: Mrs. Archibald Morris, of the Production Department; Miss Frances Landreth of the Home Service Department; Mrs. Marie Holland, executive; and Mrs. William DuHamel, chairman of Bristol Branch; and Mrs. Harry Frederick and assistant from Croydon. During their visit to Headquarters these representatives noted the immense amount of production in sewing and knitting to be accomplished by the various branches. At 120 Mill street there are quantities of clothes to be made for babies, and wool to be converted into sweaters. The women of Bristol who are not sewing are asked to help with this work.

Furniture and Clothing Made by Pupils Displayed

Household furnishings made by students of Lester Michael, industrial arts instructor, and articles of clothing fashioned by girls under tutelage of Miss Ruth Wagner, home economics instructor, were displayed in Bristol high school cafeteria last evening, following class night exercises.

Hundreds of parents and friends were high in their praise of the gleaming pieces of wood-work made by the boys of the high school, and of the fine patterns for costumes followed by the girls.

Articles displayed from the shop included tablecloths and tables of many types, pier cases, desks, lamps, foot stools, magazine racks, tie racks, model airplanes and boats, and even a full-size kayak. Many commented upon the manner in which metal and plexiglas was used for decorative purposes in various pieces; and the articles with two and three tones of wood drew much attention.

Metal-craft included such pieces as trays, pitchers, book ends—all intricately designed. The manner in which the pieces were finished, with glistening coats of varnish or paint, was highly commented upon.

The display of articles made by Miss Wagner's pupils also elicited much attention, with dresses, skirts, blouses, jumpers, etc., being included on the racks. The girls also study textiles in connection with their sewing, and their note books on textiles were well illustrated, many samples being used.

A dinner table was attractively arranged by the young women, with spotless linen, shining silver, and gleaming china, each piece being correctly arranged. Instruction in etiquette is included in this course of training, the girls being taught how to be gracious hostesses. They also study nutrition in connection with their lessons in food preparation, and some of their equipment was shown. Books on good grooming, one of the most popular subjects with the girls, were also displayed.

Waterhouse Convicted Of Drunken Driving

earning $315 a month and that he has a wife and two step-children in Brant Beach, N. J.

Miss Madeline Compton, of Willow Grove, testified that the defendant is the father of her two daughters, to whom he was giving partial support at intervals, and that she wishes no money for herself.

Joseph Karuza, 20, Haycock township, chain store clerk, was convicted of a charge of f. and b. charging him with being the father of twin sons born March 8, to a Haycock township girl in Grand View Hospital.

Motion was made for a new trial and the Court fixed the bail at $500.

Furman Brown, 51, of Morrisville, was acquitted yesterday on a charge of drunken driving. The case was heard before Judge Hiram H. Keller, who directed that the costs be placed on the county. Brown was arrested following a collision between his and another car. Privates Roller R. Beckhart, now of the South Langhorne sub-station of the Penna. Motor Police, and a former Pennsylvania Motor Policeman, Russell L. Minker, investigated an accident on the Bristol Pike November 26, 1940, when the defendant's car struck a car driven by John Voit, of Bala-Cynwyd.

George T. Fox, Harriman Hospital, who examined Brown, pronounced him unfit to drive a car. Charged with open lewdness, Asher Kramer, 27, of Quakertown, who can't read nor write, was on trial before Judge Boyer on Tuesday afternoon.

Chief of Police Harry B. Welsh, who arrested the defendant, following a complaint on the part of the parents of a 10-year old school girl, and the prosecutors were the witnesses for the Commonwealth.

The small girl, who is in the fifth grade, told of actions the defendant is alleged to have committed in a car in Quakertown on March 18 while she was on her way to school.

Counsel for the defendant, C. William Freed explained to the Court that he didn't think the defendant qualified to swear because he can neither read nor write.

"The law assumes that because of his age he is old enough to understand what he is doing when he takes an oath and lays his hand on the Bible," Judge Boyer ruled.

The jury is all-male since every woman was removed by agreement of Assistant District Attorney Willard S. Curtin and Counsel Freed. Resuming the case of Asher Kramer before Judge Boyer, the defendant's mother, Rosa Kramer, who is an invalid, took the stand.

Unable to go up the steps, Mrs. Kramer was permitted to sit in a chair in front of the jury instead of taking the witness chair which is in the witness box.

Mrs. Kramer was assisted to the chair by two court attendants.

Mrs. Esther Dietzler, a next door neighbor, was the next witness. Both testified Asher slept until noon March 18 and was employed in a bowling alley from 1 until midnight.

Edgar W. Jarrett, the defendant's employer, who operates a bowling alley, testified Kramer begins working between 1 and 2 o'clock.

Charles Kramer, father of the defendant, testified he met his son between Mill and Broad street, on Hellertown avenue.

Chief Welsh testified, in rebuttal, that the defendant pleaded guilty before the Justice of the Peace at a hearing.

With Judge Keller on the stand, the trial of Martin Edwards, Dolington, charged with f. and b. got under way yesterday morning.

A 23-year-old Newtown mother charges him with being the father of her son, born in the Abington Hospital.

John Kuzmik, Perkasio, R. D. 3, went on trial before Judge Calvin S. Boyer in the opening session of the May criminal court, on a charge of driving while drunk. Private John I. Swann, of the Doylestown sub-station of the P. M. P., as the first witness for the Commonwealth, testified that he arrested the defendant who was operating his car April 19th on the Bethlehem pike, near Sellersville.

Private Swann testified the first remark the motorist made to him after his car had been halted, was "I am as sober as a judge."

Dr. Harriet J. Stapp, a hospital physician of Grand View Hospital, Sellersville, examined the defendant. She said she didn't think him fit to drive a car.

Private Swann said he first noticed the defendant's reckless manner of driving his car in and out of traffic. The defendant, who said he never saw the officer following him, admitted he had been drinking beer and playing darts in Hatfield.

Peter Moyer, Blooming Glen, testified he sold the defendant a car on April 19th in the afternoon and that he was all right. The defendant was arrested after nine o'clock that same evening.

Wayne Houck, Perkasio, R. D. 3, testified the defendant has a good reputation.

COMMUNICATION

Editor, Courier:

IN MEMORIAM

"When we asunder part

It gives us inward pain.

But we shall still be joined in heart

And hope to meet again."

This is the hope that gives us strength and support in the hour of bereavement. When our loved ones depart from us and the road ahead seems dark and lonesome, we can still find comfort and solace in the assurance that someday we shall meet again.

A day or two ago a young friend of mine, Miss Emily E. Bracken, passed on to the life beyond. Every week I would see her at the bank where she was employed. Her cheerful smile, her ready wit and her pleasing repartee, made her friendship worthwhile. I shall miss her pleasant face as it looked down at me from the balcony at the bank, as well as her direct "hits" as she often scored in humorous repartee.

It is hard to believe that Emily has gone, that the pleasant smile, the familiar features that we so often looked upon with pleasure and satisfaction will soon rest beneath the sod in the quiet cemetery. To me the Emily that I knew is no longer an inhabitant of the physical body, but being released by death is now a member of that great community on the other side, who have begun their eternal existence.

Life and death are not so hard to understand when we realize that at birth a spiritual entity is born within us (that is our real self) that is destined to live on after the physical body has ceased to function. The mind is the seat of intelligence of this spiritual entity and the brain is a physical organ which is used by the mind in its intercourse with the physical world. When death comes to the physical body this spiritual entity (you may call it soul or spirit) with all the knowledge it has acquired during its association with the physical body, passes on to God where it is enclosed with a spiritual body and begins its eternal existence. This is the thought which Paul wanted to convey when he said: "To be absent from the body is to be present with the Lord."

And so, believing as I do, I do not think of my young friend as being laid away in a grave in the cemetery. It is only the physical shell that held the real Emily that is to be laid away, the Emily that I knew, with all her cheerfulness and endearing characteristics, has passed through the transition known as death, and is now renewing relationships with loved ones and friends who have gone on before, from whom she will never again be separated and with whom she will eagerly await the coming of her loved ones and friends who are still upon earth.

Farewell, dear Emily! We loved you in life; we shall not forget you in death! The sentiment so beautifully expressed by the poet in the lines at the beginning of this memorial will linger in our minds and in the years to come, we shall find happiness and consolation in the thought:

"But we shall still be joined in heart

And hope to meet again."

Memorial Day Highway Safety Principles

Safety ★ Security ★ Service

Let us dedicate ourselves to the principles of SAFETY—SECURITY—SERVICE while honoring our heroic dead upon what may prove to be the most momentous Memorial Day in our nation's history.

SAFETY guarantees SECURITY which depends upon SERVICE in all things—above all others SERVICE to our fellowman—the motorist—the pedestrian.

Motorists and pedestrians should remember those principles in the weekend holidays ahead when, if it is indicated, highway traffic will reach an all time high record. Think for the other fellow. Keep him SAFE and SECURE by SERVING him as well as yourself.

Observance is the keynote of Memorial Day. Let us adhere to it by strictly observing the traffic laws and the rules of the road. Drive carefully. Have your car checked—brakes, lights, tires and steering wheel—before you start. Keep within the speed limit—fifty miles per hour. Don't pass on hills or on a curve. Be ready for all emergencies.

Let's go "All Out" for SAFETY Memorial Day

PENNSYLVANIA'S HIGHWAY SAFETY COUNCIL

WILLIAM A. HAMILTON, JR., Secretary of Revenue

Faith Clarke's SHOPPING TIPS FOR BUDGETEERS

To shop efficiently, keep a permanent shopping list beside the grocery list. The night before going to town check the list, add or subtract items. Come home with not a thing forgotten.

Folks, it's Snellenburg Week! That means some of the best buys Philadelphia has ever seen. The special values week begins this coming Saturday. Fat plums of "buys" in every department. One bargain is one of those grand "Rock-o-Spring" outdoor, weather-resistant chairs that are so comfortable. On this chair is a special price of $5 instead of $7.50, two for $9.50. Two-tone green finish, metal with wood slat back. These and other bargains are in Snellenburg's 4th floor Outdoor Furniture Dept. Look about. It's an interesting department.

Well dressed men like Van Heusen collars. Hence it is big news for males that in honor of exciting Snellenburg Week the big friendly shop will feature 15,000 of these collars at half price, 17 cents or 6 for $1. This is possible because of very trifling imperfections that make no difference to the wearer or wearing quality. All styles, and in sizes 13½ to 18, including ¼ sizes. Find them in the 1st fl. Men's Furnishings Dept., a department so easy to reach through the 12th and Market Streets. Other specially priced things for the big week, too.

If you're a devotee of "Scotties", the well cut, economical shoes for women, you'll like to know that these shoes can be had during Snellenburg Week for $4.45 instead of $5. There are brand new whites and white combinations, not to speak of a wide selection of spring navies and blacks, gabardines and patents. There are models for play, sports, and for dress and business. "Scotties" have a scientific last that hugs the arch, and they include a soft metatarsal lift. Furthermore, the narrow heel that really fits is an added joy. First floor Shoe Dept.

Gabardine suits for men have become a summer "must". Snellenburgs have one of the most gratifying collections in town. For Snellenburg Week the store has reduced their popular $22.50 models to $18.50. The light weight material is coolness itself, yet holds pressing excellently. This makes for a crisp appearance on even sweltering days. Many interesting patterns and colors. Be sure to see, too, the men's worsted suits, usually $19.50, now $15.75. These suits are light and porous, hold their shape, and men are especially keen about them. Men's Clothing Dept., 3rd fl.

Washable slip covers are the crowning touch of summer coolness in any room. Snellenburg's exclusive "Sure-Fit" slips at $9.97 for 8 pieces—sofa, 2 chairs, and 5 loose cushions—for Snellenburg Week. "Sure-Fits" have a lively cretonne pattern, box pleated skirts, contrasting cording, snap fasteners and patented "Stay-Fast" features. Attractive color combinations with green, wine, brown, or blue predominating. Separate chair covers $2.49 each, sofa cover $4.49. At this rate it certainly doesn't pay to make covers, does it? Upholstery Dept.

Now have yours! If a buying time! Snellenburg Week is a friend indeed to us out-of-towners. Do tell the shop folks that Faith Clarke told you the news! Cheerio! Signed—Me.

part was taken by Roy Houser. A mixed octet was garbed in costumes of by-gone days; a swing band performed; and an instrumental quartet, Theodore Krushynski, Charles Kallenbach, Raymond Eckert, and Kenneth Herrmann performed. A xylophone solo by Donald Glazer was well received.

One of the highlights of the evening was the announcement by Mrs. Earl McEuen, president of the Mothers' Association, of the recipient of the Mothers' Association essay contest award. The winner is William Bensch.

Mrs. McEuen also presented pins to 15 seniors who are members of the staff of "The Rambler," Bristol high school publication. Those receiving pins: Benjamin Lurkin, Robert Har-outh, Myrtle Collier, Ruth Bachofer, William Bensch, Mary Brown, Jennie DiBenedetto, Raymond Eckert, Edith Orazi, Margaret Rathke, Sylvia Singer, Elizabeth Somers, Albert Tomlinson, Margaret Wildman, Elizabeth Wilson.

The gift committee included: Peter Spezzano, Margaret Rathke, Eunice McIlvaine, Edward Feehan, Raymond Eckert, Robert Swanger. FASHION PARADE

By Orry-Kelly

(Famous Hollywood Stylist Writing For International News Service)
HOLLYWOOD—(INS)—Every girl with an ounce of femininity cherishes the compliment that surrounds her with the aura of having "just stepped out of a box." Like no other phrase in the language this one seems to put starch in her backbone, makes her feel important because she looks important. So if you haven't felt satisfied with yourself along these bright and shining lines this summer is the time to remedy it. Soap-and-water clothes, in the ascendency in Hollywood over all other kinds of wear, make it possible for any girl to look as neat as a pin.

Of course, we'll agree, that the upkeep has been the downfall of tubbale togs. But isn't the result worth a little extra elbow grease?

When the feminine players here on the Warner Studio lot report bright and early for make-up and hair-does these days they all wear washable dresses or slacks. Ann Sheridan, coming in for "Navy Blues," was wearing a turquoise linen slacks with cool white zipper, cool white open-stitched cardigan, and cool white pique turban edged with the turquoise line. Believe me, Ann looked as new as a new penny. We noted a trace of starch in her slacks suit.

Tubbale printed voiles in quaint, wall-paper patterns are the current choice of Anita Louise from May until September, and of many other girls who wear period gowns so well. And because the simplicity of the detail, which may include spaced rows of flat insertion, make these dresses easy to iron Anita sees that even her cotton evening gowns go into the suds after each wearing. Her newest one is a Scarlett O'Hara number in deep green rambler rose design on white starched voile.

The whole town is smitten with washable silk shanting. We've been seeing it in one-piece frocks, two-piece suits some for cocktails or for evening, even in summer coats with full, flared skirts.

And very 'teen-age are the gingham dresses led with white pique collars and cuffs or stiff organdie bows on huge hip pockets. Lana Turner's afternoon dress in a small red and white check has a pleated skirt and small Pan collar of scarlet rickrack stitched on white net. Those large white organdie bows we mentioned are on the pockets of Lucile Fairbanks' evening cotton in peppermint striped pique.

ON THE SCREENS

GRAND THEATRE

Lead-off picture from Hollywood about the funny side of camp life of the conscriptees in Uncle Sam's fighting forces, "Buck Privates" comes to the Grand Theatre on Thursday and Friday.

Dad Abbott and Lou Costello, the serio-comic battlers of radio and the stage, who were immediately signed to a long term contract following their hit in "One Night in the Tropics," share prominent spots in the Universal hit with The Andrews Sisters, the boogie-woogie girls of rhythm, who also hit the boxoffice jackpot in their first film, "Argentine Nights."

Lee Bowman, recently opposite Lana Turner in a 8-13 of films; Alan Curtis, last in "High Sierra," and Jane Frazee, vivacious new film leading lady, form a two-boys-and-a-girl romantic combination.

BRISTOL THEATRE

Stirring, forceful, human and packed with dramatic dynamite, "Tobacco Road" came to life vividly on the Bristol Theatre's screen last night. Filmed with striking realism, and blending turgidly with lusty humor, this production is a jolting, not to be missed entertainment experience for all, including those who saw it on the stage.

All of the characters in Jack Kirkland's famed and much discussed play, who stirred the imagination of the theatrical world with their warmth, vitality and rugged humor, come to life under John Ford's brilliant direction.

RITZ THEATRE

Are you a sophisticate or an ambience? If you are, then stay away from "Road Show," Hal Roach's new comedy which is the current attraction at the Ritz Theatre.

"Virginia" is to be shown tomorrow.

GRAND SLAM IN CLOVERS

BALLSTON, Spa, N. Y.—(INS)—Carl Castle, West High street, was unusually lucky, if clover leaves have anything to do with it. He picked a four leaf clover, then a five leaf, and also a six leaf. Mr. Castle is carrying his finds with him to prove it is no joke.

ST. ANN'S WINNING STREAK BROKEN BY DIAMOND IX

St. Ann's List of Five Straight Wins is Smashed in Close Contest

FINAL SCORE IS 2 TO 1

Defeat Marks End of Four-Game Streak by Pitcher DeRisi

The St. Ann's A. A.'s winning streak of five straight games went tottering to pieces last evening on the St. Ann's field as the Diamond team emerged a 2-1 victory in a tilt which was a heartbreaker for either team to lose.

The defeat also marked the end of the four-game streak of Pitcher "Mike" DeRisi who until last evening was unbeaten on the mound. However, despite their defeat the St. Ann's team held on to first place in the circuit, still having a full game edge on their next opponents.

"Johnny" Stallone, second-sacker for the Diamond team, was a thorn which broke into the bed of roses for DeRisi. Stopping to the plate in the fourth after Seibold had hit sharply to right, Johnny connected for a DeRisi close ball and lambasted it far over Palumbo's head in left. Only fast fielding held Stallone to three bases but Seibold had scored and a moment later Stallone crossed on a bunt by Fletcher which Barbetta missed.

It appeared as if DeRisi was going to the showers as Kelly continued with another hit but neither Clay nor Keogan could push the runners around. To prove that his first triple wasn't a fake, Stallone duplicated the blow with a tremendous drive to left in the sixth.

"Lefty" Keogan did wonderful hit work for the winners, allowing the Wood Streeters but a trio of safe blows, all made by the Palumbo brothers, Nick and Tony. He deserved a shut-out win but a low throw by Catcher Clay prevented him from getting the goose-egg victory.

His share of trouble as in both the first and second cantos, the Saints put a runner as far as third base but Keogan got the final out without too much effort. St. Ann's put two runners on the bags in the fifth and scored an only marker in its last turn with the club.

Angelini drew a pass and went to second as Peterpal was being tossed out. Keogan made a wild pitch and Angelini started for third. Clay's throw to Tosti was low and Angelini counted.

It looked like curtains for DeRisi in the Diamond seventh as the Diamantians loaded the sacks with no one but DeRisi retired Harker, Seibold, and Hubsch without any damage.

Several nice plays were noted in the tilt. St. Ann's had two fast double-plays in the first two innings. Kelly robbed DeRisi of a hit in the fourth by a beautiful running catch of his fly along th first base foul line and Nick Palumbo made nice catches of hits by Tosti and Harker.
